

LUCERNE SUMMER SCHOOL INFORMATION SESSION

Wednesday, February 24, 2010 at 12.15 hrs
Union, Artistenbar

For the second time, the University of Lucerne will be opening its doors this summer for a three-week summer program called the Lucerne Academy for Human Rights Implementation. Lucerne students will receive ten (10) ECTS credits towards their Lucerne MLaw degree for participation in the Academy. This program is designed to be innovative and exciting, with a variety of courses and lecturers in the field of human rights litigation and advocacy. Students will not only learn the law, but experience the use of that law in practice first hand. The University has partnered with several renowned universities to create a diverse faculty and student body.

We welcome all interested students to attend an information session to be held Wednesday, February 24, 2010, at 12.15 in the Union, Artistenbar to learn more about our program, including fees and application requirements. Refreshments will be served.

- Participants must be Masters students (at least by Fall 2010). Interested Bachelor students who expect to complete their degree in the Spring 2010 are encouraged to apply.
- Completion of a class in public international law or human rights law preferred, but not required.
- Fee for Unilu students will be 750 CHF for Summer Session 2010
- Program Dates will be from July 19 - August 6, 2010
- Courses and participation will be conducted in English
