IVR WORLD CONGRESS 2019

The 29th IVR World Congress will take place in Lucerne, Switzerland, from 7–13 July 2019. The organisation of the event is a joint undertaking between the Institute for Interdisciplinary Legal Studies at the University of Lucerne, and the Swiss Association for Philosophy of Law and Social Philosophy (SVRSP).

DIGNITY, DEMOCRACY, DIVERSITY

The overarching theme of the 2019 congress is “Dignity, Democracy, Diversity”. Our aim is to open a discursive space for reflection and discussion on pressing human rights concerns, on the contemporary challenges of realising political autonomy, and on questions regarding cultural pluralism, citizenship and integration. The issues at stake in these debates are of interest not only to legal and social philosophers but also to policy-makers, NGO representatives, practicing lawyers and the public, as well as academics from various disciplines. We are thus keen to instigate a wide-ranging dialogue that welcomes and respects diverse points of view.

The selected topic is not to be understood as exclusive. Inasmuch as we are keen to receive submissions that directly relate to questions of dignity, democracy and diversity, we also welcome proposals on all legal philosophical, theoretical and jurisprudential issues, as well as on interdisciplinary directions, novel approaches, and new areas of enquiry.

CALL FOR PAPERS

The call for papers is available on the congress website at www.ivr2019.org. The call is open to all, and we especially encourage proposals from young scholars and researchers.
